As to claim 16, the prior art of record, taken alone or in combination, fails to disclose or render limitations “a first module configured to allow a user to interactively choose the location of one or more control points within a graphic representation of the model to define to a cross-sectional profile for the surface feature” and “a third module configured to visually portray the difference between the calculated optical response information and empirical optical response information obtained for the subject”, in combination with the rest of the limitations of claim 16.
